Subject: Microsoft Proposal

I was reading a recent article in USA Today about Microsoft's proposed settlement by supplying poor schools with refurbished computers and software/tech support. As an educator in a poor school, I don't believe that this is a just settlement. It will take away our power choice as a school on what technology we can purchase. We are long users of Apple computers and this would inhibit our ability to choose. This is not an answer to Microsoft's wrongdoing. This will only strengthen their monopoly in the arena of education thus leaving us with fewer choices of technology. I would like to see a proposal with Microsoft that has nothing to do with them in the schools as an act of capitalism.

Thank you,

Jerry Moreno
